Program Fee

$2,100 (scholarships available)

What You Will Learn:

- What is a social enterprise, what can it do for your organization and what structures should be considered? (emphasis on legal, tax and funding options)
- How can you use impact investing to expand your mission and increase your total access to funding?
- What are foundations looking for in a social enterprise compared to a traditional grant funded program?
- What is the impact investing ecosystem and what industry trends are creating billion dollar funding opportunities?
- How can you access the extensive network, knowledge, and other resources of foundations through true partnerships?

Course Benefits:

- Understand the legal, tax, and financial issues your organization will face – before you face them – potentially saving thousands of dollars in professional fees and rework
- Cultivate a network of social innovators and receive detailed financial models, sample legal agreements and five free hours of consulting time to help you get started
- Expand your toolset beyond that of a typical nonprofit leader and stand out among your peers when you talk to funders
- Bring sustainability to your organization and reduce your dependence on grants, donations, and reimbursements

“ Imagine being the only interview candidate that knows what the hiring manager is looking for... Spending three days with a funder was hugely beneficial, as was the opportunity to build relationships and network. ”

Ernest Perry
HandsOn Central Ohio

“ Everything you need to know about social entrepreneurship but were afraid to ask! A dynamic learning opportunity and the most engaging training I have ever been to. ”

Kathy Streblo
Foundation for the Challenged

“ The class made it clear that anyone who wants to go down this path can succeed. The course has an enjoyable format that allows you to learn from dozens of real life examples as well as from other participants. ”

ABOUT THE TONY R. WELLS FOUNDATION

The Tony R. Wells Foundation is a Columbus-based private family foundation that was created in 2001. Pursuant to its mission to “create value for our community by developing stronger nonprofit leaders and investing in the next generation of social innovations,” the foundation has spent nearly a decade investing into social enterprises, developing new social innovation models, and advising local nonprofit organizations that are considering social enterprise. The foundation regularly provides loans and lines of credit to nonprofits for operating needs and has provided the seed capital to fund numerous social enterprises.

APPLICATION PROCESS

Admission is by application only. The course application includes an optional scholarship application for those in financial need. Scholarship awards and acceptances are made on a rolling, space-available basis. Once scholarship funds for a particular class are allocated, no more scholarships can be awarded for that class. For these reasons, early application is highly encouraged.

The program fee includes all instructional materials including case studies, readings, and handouts; financial models, worksheets, and sample legal contracts; 5 free hours of consulting; all breakfasts, lunches, and coffee/snack breaks; and one select networking dinner event.

Upon acceptance to the class, we ask for payment within two weeks. This payment completes your registration for the program and fully reserves your seat. Payments can be mailed by check or submitted online by credit card.

A SPECIAL THANKS TO

SOCIAL IMPACT INVESTING

Executive Education Program

This cutting-edge three day course enables nonprofit, foundation and social enterprise leaders to leverage the power of social enterprise and social impact investing together to increase impact, improve stability, and grow the sustainability of their organizations.

Agenda: Day 1

The course begins at the macro level with a discussion of how the philanthropy industry is and has evolved to its current makeup before looking at the social impact investing ecosystem more specifically. Key terms are defined and students evaluate their own organizations for risk in the eyes of an investor. This discussion of risk and return translates into a lesson about the various types of funding that are available. Students will begin to understand where their organization is situated in the greater ecosystem, but more importantly students will be able to distinguish between which type and source of funding is appropriate for a given situation, and which others are not.

Agenda: Day 2

Day 2 of the course focuses on the legal organization of a social enterprise activity. This organization can simply take the form of a single entity or it can be part of a parent-subsidary hybrid structure. Throughout the day we consider legal liability and tax issues related to each of the legal entity options, enabling students to purposefully choose the most effective legal form for their social ventures. This includes a group activity where students practice applying their knowledge to various scenarios. The afternoon covers partnerships with other organizations in the context of Corporate Social Responsibility and Creating Shared Value, contract hybrids, and joint ventures.

Agenda: Day 3

The third and final day of the course is focused on becoming investment ready and thinking even further outside the box. The day begins with a lecture on licensing, which allows great ideas to take flight and generate income using the help of a partner without giving up control. Next is an in-depth case study that puts the Mission-Money Matrix to use. This is one of the most beneficial activities in the program and focuses on preparing your organization for success prior to taking on outside investment. The day concludes with everyone's favorite activity, the SharkTank™, in which participants play the roles of impact investors and nonprofits who are pitching for social impact investment. This is a one of a kind experience that prepares participants to make their own investment pitches in the future.
